

New Outreach Speaker Expands WCPG Reach in Milwaukee

For Immediate Release

August 5, 2010

(Green Bay, WI) – The Wisconsin Council on Problem Gambling (WCPG) has selected Mark Borowski as its Milwaukee outreach speaker. Borowski will aid the WCPG in continuing public education and awareness of problem gambling through presentations to middle and high school students, senior citizen groups and others.

This new outreach activity within WCPG was created through funding from a Potawatomi Bingo Casino sponsorship.

“We are delighted to welcome Mark to our team,” said Rose Gruber, WCPG Executive Director. “It’s critical to have the right people in place the carry the message about problem gambling resources. Mark has the experience and skills that will be invaluable in his role in reaching out to members of the community.”

Borowski received his Masters of Science in Adult Education and Administrative Leadership from the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. He has been in the training and speaking field for nearly 20 years and is the author of an award-winning book about parenting.

“I look forward to helping people learn about the gambling addiction through interactive presentations and challenging them with questions,” Borowski said.

Schools or community groups interested in scheduling a speaker in the Milwaukee area, or anywhere in the state, should contact WCPG at (920) 437-8888.
